Course Structure:

The course's structure is based on giving the students the tools to be successful (study and research skills) at the beginning of the course. This benefits the current volunteer project and career paper (which has been modified to be the dream job portfolio).

The class will then continue by major assignments:

- Create a plan of why they are in school (dream job portfolio)
- Use of cover letter and resume to get the dream job
- Work skills to keep their dream job
- How to keep from burning out and how to work with others (diversity)

The course presentation will cover one concept that resonated or was particularly interesting in each topic covered during the semester.

Hybrid class meetings:

- The online module for the next week opens the day after class and closes the day of class.
 - Example of Tuesday class: New content opens on Wednesday; Discussion first due Saturday replies due Tuesday.
- Beginning of class: Questions on readings to explain if not clear
- Survey: D2L, then review of answers and discussion
- Activity: with and without technology
- Quiz: D2L
- End of class: recap of what was covered and what comes after
